Boose Jr., is the definitive history of the extensive but little known US Army amphibious operations during the Korean War, 1950-1953. Building on its extensive experience in World War II, the Army conducted three major landing operations during the war, including the assault at Inchon in September 1950. After the massive Chinese attacks two months later the Army executed a series of amphibious withdrawals as it fell back to more defensible positions farther down the peninsula. Throughout the war the Army also conducted a number of massive and complex over-the-shore logistical operations, as well as several amphibious special operations along the Korean littoral. Colonel Boose's work, commissioned by DAMO-ODG, Operations and Technology Office, provides the historical context for any subsequent amphibious operations on the Korean peninsula. As such, this thought-provoking study may provide insights to modern planners crafting future joint or combined operations in that part of the world. -- Publisher's Description. Operations manual for placement of the physically handicapped Transportation Corps Professional Bulletin Instructions for Enginemen Governing the Care, Maintenance and Economical Operation of the Locomotive A Coal Manual for Salesmen, Buyers and Users Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen's Magazine Diesel Traction Manual for Enginemen Hearings Before the Special Subcommittee on Enlisted Promotion Policy Review, Committee on Armed Services, House of Representatives, Ninetieth Congress, First Session Committee Serial No. 38.
